sooner shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father, which is in heaven.

"When Christ came to redeem men and to establish His kingdom, He had a perfect right to say what men shall do to become His followers. He demanded that as He does now that if men want to be His followers, they must confess Him openly and above board. He knew what it meant to be a Christian; He knew the real courage and manhood required to let the

STOMACH TROUBLES

Mr. Ragland Writes Interesting Letter on This Subject.

Madison Heights, Va.—Mr. Chas. A. Ragland, of this place, writes: "I have been taking Theodor's Black-Draught for indigestion, and other stomach troubles, also colds, and find it to be the very best medicine I have ever used."

After taking Black-Draught for a few days, I always feel like a new man. Nervousness, nausea, heartburn, pain in pit of stomach, and a feeling of fullness after eating, are sure symptoms of stomach trouble, and should be given the proper treatment, as your strength and health depend very largely upon your food and its digestion.

To get quick and permanent relief from these ailments, you should take a medicine of known curative merit.

Its 75 years of splendid success, in the treatment of just such troubles, proves the real merit of Theodor's Black-Draught. Safe, pleasant, gentle in action, and without bad after-effects, it is sure to benefit both young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25c. N. C. 122 world know that Jesus Christ would get their loyalty and life. It is a call to true heroism to confess Jesus Christ before men.

"In England, a religious worker went to one of the great universities and appealed to the students for volunteers for a certain missionary field. Among the things he offered the students were, 'You will get a comfortable salary; you will have a very good equipment; you will have servants to wait on you; a good climate and many advantages.' Not a student volunteered."

Not long after, another religious worker came to that university and addressed the same body of students, and he made an appeal for volunteers to preach the gospel in Africa. He had pleasure in serving Him. The way of the transgressor is hard, but in keeping the commandments of God, there is great reward. There is a peace which passeth all understanding. There is a joy that overflows; there is a pleasure in serving Him that the world cannot imagine. There is no dispute about this among those who have followed Jesus Christ. I have asked those who have tried the world and all the world could give them, and those who have tried the service of Jesus Christ, and I have heard them say, 'The pleasures of the world are not to be compared with the pleasures of serving Jesus Christ.'

I have heard the rich; I have heard the poor; I have heard people of all ranks, all grades and in all spheres of life testify to the joy which Jesus Christ gives. The world may know in a large measure what you give up when you become a Christian, but it never can know what joy you take up. What you lay down is a burden of sin, guilt, fear, apprehension of soul disaster, but what you take up brings light, joy, real pleasures and genuine satisfaction.

A young man said to me, 'I have been trying to live a Christian life in secret and I have not found this joy of which you speak.' I asked him, 'Have you told any one that you are trying to live a Christian life?' He said, 'No.' 'Do you think any one believes that you are a Christian?' 'I do not think they do,' I said, 'You have tried to make God meet your terms rather than you meet His. He never promised salvation to those who try to sneak into the kingdom. He has never promised to save those who play the coward and try to be a secret disciple, but to those who confess Him before men. Try Him and see.' Confess Christ openly. He agreed to do so and took an open and brave stand for Christ and his soul was flooded with joy. Christ does promise joy to us if we serve Him and He does give it, but He gives us so much more than we ever dreamed of. He would give. The sooner you confess Christ, the sooner you will know this joy, pleasure and deep satisfaction.

A Test of Loyalty.
"2nd. The sooner you confess Jesus Christ, the sooner you will be doing just what you must do to be saved. It demands this as a test of your love, loyalty and sincerity. If you are not willing to confess Him before men, it is very evident that you have neither love, loyalty nor sincerity for Him. You must confess Him, or He will not confess you. Let the world know that Christ is your Savior. He will deny you. He said, 'Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, I will confess him before My Father which is in heaven.' If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt

BANISH SCROFULA

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cleanses the Blood, Skin Troubles Vanish.

Scrofula eruptions on the face and body are both annoying and disfiguring. Many a complexion would be perfect if it were not present. This disease shows itself in other ways, as bunces in the neck, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, wasting of the muscles, a form of dyspepsia, and general debility.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine completely eradicates scrofula. It purifies and enriches the blood, removes humors and builds up the whole system. It has stood the test of forty years, and has received thousands of testimonials of the entire satisfaction it has given.

Scrofula is either inherited or acquired. Better be sure you are quite free from it. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla and begin taking it today.—Advertisement.

be saved, for with heart man believeth unto righteousness and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

Again and again, you read how Jesus Christ warned those whom He healed not to tell any one about it, and they could not keep the good news, and they went out everywhere, telling what had happened to them. That is the way men did when Christ healed their bodies, and could you wonder that a man if Christ would heal his soul?

I know a doctor in Cleveland intimately. I have watched him with great interest as he has built up a good practice, treating obstinate cases and what may be regarded as incurables. He said, 'When I send a patient out of my office, cured of some long-standing, obstinate disease, I do not need to tell him to tell others about me; that is just what he will do. He will go among his friends and is proud to own my work as a physician.'

Let us suppose I am afflicted with a fatal disease. It is robbing me of my strength. It will soon end my life. I hear that a certain doctor can cure me. I go to him and put my case in his hands and I am healed. As I go away, the doctor says, 'Tell others about me and about what I can do for them who are afflicted as you were. Suppose I see men on every hand who are afflicted with that fatal disease and I never tell them of this doctor who healed me, you know I would be disloyal to the doctor and I would be disloyal to those dying of that fatal disease. You would brand me as a heartless and cruel and ungrateful man. But if you are never saved, it will be because you openly confess Jesus Christ as your Saviour before men.'

It Brings Assurance.
Third—If you confess Jesus Christ as your Saviour now, you will have the assurance of your salvation. You expect to be saved, but the sooner you decide for Christ, the sooner you will your salvation be settled. You might be saved in a week from now, but you are taking a great risk if you decide to wait until tomorrow. Until you confess Christ, you are taking your chances that you will never confess Him. If you should decide to confess Jesus Christ tomorrow, you might do so, or you might not do it, and the way you have been living, the chances are that you would not do it. Such decisions as 'I expect to do so soon' are determined by the near future; tomorrow night is just as good as tonight; such decisions, I say, are freighted often with soul disaster and eternal calamity. If you confess Christ now, you are sure that your sins are forgiven, and of victory over your sins' power, and that you have the assurance of an eternity of blessing. But if you defer, it may mean death and eternal doom. John B. Gough used to tell of the people who made their living by robbing birds' nests. To get at the nest, men are let down with a rope from the cliff. They hang in mid air and fill their bags with eggs. One man was let down by a rope and swung himself into a crevice, and was busy at work when he was attacked by an eagle. The eagle came at him to fight with wings, beak and talons. The man swung out in mid air and the eagle battered him with its wings and tore at him with its claws. Holding on with one hand he drew a long sharp knife and made one desperate stroke at the eagle. He missed the eagle and struck the rope, and cut several strands of it. Again the eagle dashed at him and he struck and missed the bird, and struck the rope. The rope began to untwist and snap. The man caught hold of the rope above the cut and gave the signal to be lifted. Meantime his hair turned white as snow. There is but one rope of Salvation for you swinging down from God tonight. That rope is the spirit of God. Everytime you resist him you are cutting your rope of hope. Everytime you say 'not now, tomorrow' (tomorrow will do), you are cutting the rope. Everytime you hurl back into the face of the Son of God, 'No, not tonight,' you are slashing at the strands of hope. To defer is to weaken your character. It is to hang by a snapping, breaking rope of hope, to drop by the weight of your sins. To confess Jesus Christ now, you are sure. Another day may be too late. Everytime you have heard the gospel in song and sermon and you have said 'No,' you have strengthened your will against Christ and you have weakened your power to say 'Yes.' The chances are strong that the disposition you have encouraged to say 'No' to Christ will conquer and you will pass over the dead line a lost and hopeless sinner.

Relieves the Burden.
Fourth—The sooner you confess Christ the sooner you can get rid of your burden of sin. You may love your sins, you may take delight in doing evil, but sin always leaves a burden. There is the burden of past sins unforgiven, driving the soul down, down the slope toward perdition. There is the burden of dread to face the future, to face death, to face the judgment, to face God and your doom.

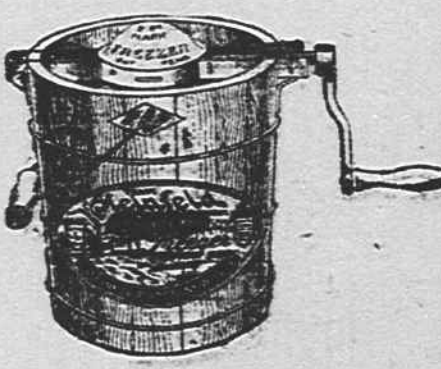

In January, 1898, our country sent the battleship Maine to the Havana harbor. Its visit was a friendly one. It had gone to assure protection to Americans in Cuba. While lying in harbor, an explosion took place. The stately battleship became a wreck of twisted steel. It sank and 266 men were hurled into eternity. Our country was grieved. A commission said it was the result of a deadly mine placed there by the Spaniards. Remember the Maine became the battle cry. Our country was soon embroiled in war; soon the sea was trembling with artillery. Thirteen years afterwards when the coffin came was completed around the sunken Maine and the wreck was exposed, our naval experts, upon examination, wired that the Maine had gone down from an explosion of its own deadly magazines.

"So a man does not go down by the sea without, but his own evil within." A man goes down a wrecked and twisted life, it is by the power of his own wicked heart. You are not a sinner because you swear and curse; you swear and curse because you are a sinner. You have a heart of evil. You have a nature that is sinful. These sins are but the fruit of your evil nature. You are not a sinner because you are a drunkard, but you are a drunkard because you are a sinner. You have the root of sin in you. You are a sinner because you are a gambler, a thief, a libertine, dishonest, Sabbath desecrator, but you are these things because you are a sinner. Your evil nature masters you and controls you. Violating the Rules.

"Years ago, in the mountains of West Virginia, in the coal district, an engineer had pulled his train in an empty coal car up the mountain to the loading station. I believe the limit was eight loaded cars on the return trip. When the eight cars had been filled a bantering brakeman said to the engineer, 'Bill, let's put on another.' The engineer said, 'That would be a violation of the rules.' The brakeman said, 'Oh, don't be a coward, Bill, we can make it.' Another car was added, and another, and another. Finally the engineer said he would not start with the load if another car was put on the train. The brakemen climbed into the last coal car and the engineer began drawing the train down the canyon. They had gone but two or three miles on the descent when the heavy load became too much for the engine and the engineer was conscious of the train was running away with him. He applied the air brakes, he did everything, but he found himself powerless to save the train. There was a sharp curve just above the canyon. The wife of the engineer looked out upon their home as she heard the terrible roar of the runaway train. She saw the train reach the canyon. Bill, her husband, had often waved his handkerchief and thrown a kiss as he had reached that place. When she looked she was filled with horror. She saw Bill's engine and cars loaded with coal turn over and over end into the canyon until they disappeared from sight and there was a terrible crash. The woman screamed, 'My God, it's my Bill.' They found him mangled and dead. He had let them put too much of a load on his engine. Year after year you have been adding to the burden of your sin. Some of you are on the down grade running at a reckless speed. The more you sin the faster you go. But in the name of Jesus Christ, I ask you to repent. God says, 'I, even I am He that blot out thy iniquities for Mine Own sake and will not remember thy sins.' Christ said, 'If ye believe not on me, ye shall die in your sins.' Will you believe on Him? Will you confess your sins to Him? The sooner you confess your sins to Christ, confess Him as your Saviour, the sooner will you get rid of your burden of sin. Do it now. I beseech you."

The Light Six As It Will Be

We Buy Cars To Compare With the Hudson

We buy about every new model which seems good enough for others to buy. We take them apart. We compare their road service with Hudsons. Hudson engineers know the good things developed anywhere. Any feature we omit is left out for good reason.

Each car has some unique feature—differences on which to base claims. But practically all those features have been refused or discarded, or bettered in Hudson cars.

Extraweight is featured as a virtue in some Light Sixes.

The truth is that every needless pound is expense. You pay for it daily in fuel and tires. An extra of 450 pounds is the weight of three adults, to be carried constantly.

Hudson weighs 2870 pounds. It is the lightest of its type. But lightness requires skillful designing, costly materials, aluminum, special steels, etc.

It also requires time. Four years were spent in attaining the refinement you see in this Hudson. Those are the real reasons why other Light Sixes are heavier than Hudsons.

Nearly every motor car buyer seeks lightness today. He is weary of overtax. And he wants all the lightness he can get without sacrificing strength. The Hudson gives you that.

It is known to be right because Howard E. Coffin designed it. And because every part is built to Hudson standards.

It is known to be right because over 12,000 owners have tested this car. They have driven it at least 30 million miles. Not a fault has been found in it, not a weakness or shortcoming.

You will find in this Hudson your ideal car. It is handsome, luxurious, and finely-finished. Every detail shows the final touch. It is the pioneer of its type, the lightest, the most improved. It is the only Light Six which has been so well tried out.

This Hudson will be your first choice. Don't wait to prove this. This spring, as last spring, there is sure to be a vast over-demand for this car.
